

MORGAN ST. JEAN

ABOUT

The most glamorous women happen to be the toughest. The brighter they shine, the more attitude they exude. With unfiltered lyrics, jaw-dropping delivery, and head-turning style, Morgan St. Jean graces pop with a whole lot of glamor and grit. If Faye Dunaway's Bonnie Parker grew up playing with Garage Band (instead of robbing banks), she might sound something like this. Attending University of Southern California, she studied pop music and dropped an early composition entitled "Addicted." It went viral on Soundcloud and HypeMachine as she continued to hone her craft, drawing inspiration from Lana Del Rey, Lady Gaga, and Marilyn Monroe in equal measure. After generating almost 100 million streams independently and fueling collaborations with Loud Luxury, Borgeous, and more, the singer, songwriter, and producer engages and empowers as she delves into her solo music.

Morgan's first single 'Lola' was a bold debut followed by a cinematic video that premiered in Wonderland Magazine. Her robust delivery stomps past walls of synths and strings with edgy boldness, as if driving right off Mulholland full speed. It all culminates on the spunky post-chorus, "Oh my man is smitten feeling sweet like cola. Busy in the city with a bitch named Lola."

St. Jean has also taken the Tik Tok world by storm after going viral with her new single 'Not All Men.' A raw and emotional anthem for women, her video received over 1.4 million views in less than 48 hours after being uploaded to the site. Inspired by the statistic that 97% of women are sexually assaulted at some point in their life, St. Jean tells her own story in the empowering ballad. As a result of the song, thousands of other women have come forward with their own experiences, and together with St. Jean, have created a powerful community of women online with 'Not All Men' as their soundtrack.
